Where Is It?

Egypt is a country in North Africa. The Mediterranean (MEH-duh-tuh-RAY-nee-uhn) Sea is to the north. The Red Sea is to the east. Other countries are to the west and south.

Cairo Opera House and other modern buildings line the banks of the Nile in Cairo.

The capital city of Egypt is Cairo (KEYE-roh).

It is also one of the largest cities in Africa.

More than twenty-one million people live there.

Some people in Egypt use camels to help them work in the hot and dry land.

People

More than 106 million people live in Egypt.

Most of them speak Arabic.

Many people live in farming towns along the Nile River.

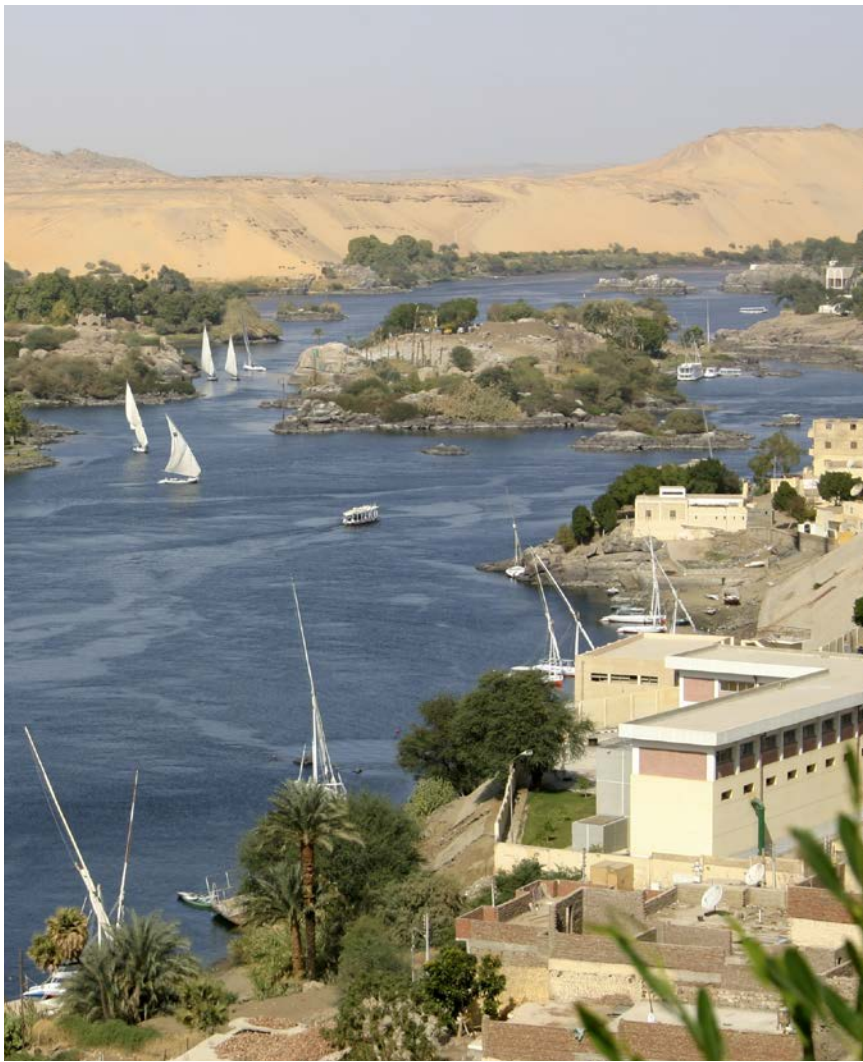

The land on each side of the Nile River is good for farming.

Some farmers in Egypt grow cotton along the Nile.
The cotton is used to make clothes.
Farmers also grow rice, wheat, and other foods.

Land

The desert stretches across all of Egypt.
The Nile River runs through the east.
It is the longest river in the world.

The Nile River runs through many towns and cities.

The Nile ends at the Mediterranean Sea.
The land where the Nile ends is the Nile Delta.

The Sinai (SEYE-neye) Mountains in Egypt are very tall.

Egypt also has mountains.
Tall mountains rise in the east.
Low mountains rise in the west.

ibex

fennec fox

spiny-tailed lizard

Egypt's deserts are home to a type of goat called the ibex (EYE-beks), the fennec fox, and the spiny-tailed lizard.

Animals

Many animals live in Egypt.

Foxes, lizards, and other animals live in the desert.

Some people raise water buffalo, sheep, and goats.

Some people use camels to travel from place to place.

People in Egypt painted pictures of their gods on the walls of tombs and temples.

History

Egypt is very old.

Long ago, kings called pharaohs (FEHR-ohz) ruled the land.

Some people believed the pharaohs were gods.

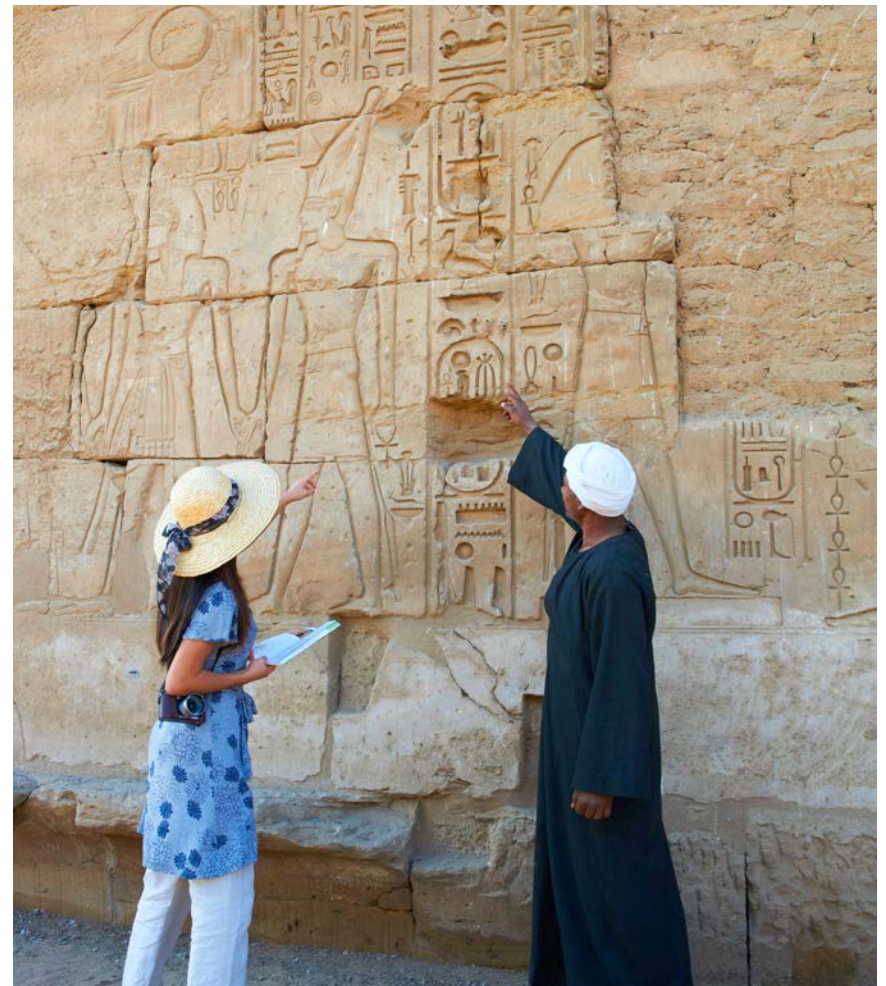

The Pyramids of Giza (GEE-zuh) are some of the tombs in Egypt.

The pharaohs had huge pyramids (PIHR-uh-midz) built.

These pyramids are tombs for the pharaohs.

Gold treasures were placed in the tombs.

Some of these treasures are in museums now.

Many people visit Egypt each year.

Conclusion

Egypt is an amazing country.

It is also a very old country.

Egypt has many important things to learn about.
