Focus Question

How does Grandfather think Pedro will use the burro? What does Pedro do instead?

There were many burros
in Pedro's village.

Pedro wanted a burro
of his own.

Grandfather gave him
a little gray burro.

“You can ride your burro to the village,” Grandfather said.
“She can carry your water jugs
from the well,” he added.
“She can pull the wagon when you bring wood for the fire,”
he said.

But when Pedro went to the village, he walked.
His little burro walked beside him.

When Pedro went to the well for water, he carried the jugs.
His little burro walked beside him.

When Pedro gathered
wood for the fire,
he pulled the wagon.
His little burro walked beside him.

One day Grandfather said, “Pedro, you don’t ride your burro to the village.”
“She doesn’t carry your water jugs or pull the wagon full of wood,” he added.
“Why did you want a burro?”
he asked.

“I wanted her for a friend, Grandfather,” replied Pedro.

Then Pedro called to his burro.
He said, “Come, Amiga!
Let’s play!”
